About the Trust

Hands that help are holier than hands that pray

SHURPARAKA EDUCATIONAL & MEDICAL TRUST (Regn. No. E-9818 Bombay)

SHURPARAKA – an ancient name of Sopara meaning the “Best Port”, lying on the western railway. The seaboard of western coast is gifted with ports and Shurapraka was one of them.

Its past is buried with pride in the debris of time, preset is in fore and future is in store. Sopara with such a bright historical background is now lacking in many fields.

Various Educational Institutes in Vasai are functioning since the advent of 20th century. Sopara once a town of eminence was lacking in this field.

Keeping all these factors in mind a band of dedicated and like thinking friends from Sopara vehemently moved in this direction and created a Trust in February 1984, with a concept “SERVICE FOR ALL WITH SELFLESSNESS AND DEDICATION”. The trust was named as Shurparaka Educational & Medical Trust, with Mr. Ridwan B Harris as its President and Mr. Anwar Munshi as it Managing Trustee and General Secretary.

The Trust resolved to start an English Medium School at Sopara. The Jama Masjid Trust was kind enough to lease out this tract of land admeasuring 3600 square meters with due permission of the Charity Commissioner, Bombay.

In 1994, the Trust started Junior College of Arts and Commerce. To acknowledge the contribution of Mr. Ridwan Harris, in the field of education, the Trustees resolved to name the Jr. College after his name, and thus Ridwan B. Harris Junior College of Arts, Commerce & Science was born.

In 2004, the Trust started Moinuddin B. Harris College of Arts.

In in 2006, under the leadership of new President, Dr. Zahir I. Kazi, the Trust reached new heights. A foundation was laid for A.E. Kalsekar College of Commerce & Management.

The Trust remains indebted to its founding members, who are no more in this world but have left their imprint on the Trust.
