ICT Application in TLP
(Assessment Period)

The ICT and e-Content Development Committee was established at the initiative of the Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC). This initiative's goal was to provide teachers with cutting-edge teaching tools and make those tools accessible to students. It turned out to be an excellent and timely move made by the IQAC because it helped teachers become computer literate and trained them to use computers as such. The live evidence of this initiation is the university's YouTube channel.

Teachers employed a variety of contemporary aids during TLP, including software and other online resources, and IQAC held meetings with the ICT and e-Content Development Committee to review its progress and offer suggestions for improvements. Throughout the assessment period, this has proven to be advantageous for both teachers and students. The details of the same are as follows:
